Third suspect sought in equipment incident

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Two persons were arrested on Thursday in connection with the damage to heavy equipment located in the Caesar Community of Hancock County, according to Ronald Peterson, Hancock County sheriff.

Peterson said, "Kevin R. Ladner, 19, and James L. Ferrill, 18, both listed at Route 1, Box 246, Picayune and of the Caesar Community were lodged in the Hancock County Jail on charges of grand larceny and malicious mischief in connection with missing items and damages to equipment."

Peterson reported the two suspects were arrested on Thursday, and a third suspect is still being sought in the complaint received on Wednesday about equipment being damaged and tools missing.

The sheriff's office investigation revealed several pieces of heavy equipment were started-up and then ran into others causing damage, in addition, some chains, mechanical tools and other items were stolen in the incident.

Ferrill was released on bond late Saturday with Ladner still lodged in jail.

The investigation is continuing with Delbert Seay in charge of the case, as some tools have been already recovered, Peterson stated.

The arrests were made by Nathan Hoda, Hancock Deputy sheriff.

ABC RAIDS LOUNGE

Mississippi Alcohol Beverage Control officers, Hancock County sheriff's deputies, and Bay St. Louis Police conducted a raid on the Big 5 Lounge, St. Francis Street, Bay St. Louis, Friday night according to Alvin Ladner, Hancock County investigator.

Ladner said, "James Smith, 57, of Waveland, operator of the Big 5 Lounge, was charged with the alleged possession of illegal liquor for resale, as liquor was seized in a raid by ABC and local officers in the establishment Friday."

Smith was lodged in the Hancock County Jail in lieu of a $500 bond, Ladner said.

HIGH SPEED CHASE

A man identifying himself as Hollywood Swinger remains lodged in the St. Tammany Parish Jail, who is thought to have stolen a Pontiac Trans Am, according to Alvin Ladner, Hancock County investigator.

Ladner gave this account, "On Thursday, myself and Delbert Seay, Hancock County investigator spotted Swinger in a vehicle in Pearlington thought to have been stolen. We stopped him and ran a check through the National Crime Index Computer which showed no listing for the vehicle."

"We then asked the subject to follow us to the sheriff's office, he then fled across the line to Louisiana," Ladner added.

Hancock County deputies, Louisiana State Police, and St. Tammany Parish officers apprehended Swinger after he stopped at a store on Hwy. 190, Ladner stated.

On Saturday Ladner indicated Swinger was thought to have been using a bogus identification and had recently been released from Angola Prison.

The matter is now being investigated by the Louisiana State Police Auto investigation unit, as the vehicle was thought to have been stolen in New Orleans, Ladner allowed.

Hancock school roof repair project results in complaints of air pollution yesterday, and some of the dust was blown about more than it was previously.

"Wind," he added, "inhaling dust of any kind causes some sneezing and coughing."

"More severe" was to be Friday afternoon on the north side of the building. O'Hara instructed students to remain in class after break at 11:30 a.m. and to keep windows and doors closed.

An unidentified parent had complained that the workmen were wearing goggles and masks, but O'Hara said that was normal procedure, and required by government regulations, not because of any toxicity but because of the dust itself, and for eye protection.

Assistant Superintendent James Fair said he and two school board members spent several hours at the school Friday morning and observed no ill effects from the work.

No children were sent home ill from the dust, he said, although one parent took home her two asthmatic children as a safeguard.

He said he also contacted company officials who said there was no hazard involved. According to the company, the same work is frequently done on hospital roofs, Fair said.

School officials took preventative measures Friday at Hancock North Central Elementary School. Several parents expressed concern that a roof repair project was causing air pollution on the school grounds.

ETV Brief

HOLIDAY FARE

Mississippi ETV offers a guide to alleviating boredom during the Thanksgiving holidays—a sure remedy for the "there's nothing to do" blues.

On Wednesday, evening, Nov. 23, "Doctor Who" fans, as well as generic science fiction buffs, are in for a treat when the 90-minute "Doctor Who" 20th anniversary special, "The Five Doctors," airs at 8 p.m.

Later that evening, at 10:30, the Doctor and Romana face the evil Daleks in part three of "Destiny of the Daleks" on "Doctor Who."

In the "Doctor Who" interim on Wednesday evening, "Survival Specials" begins its new season at 9:30 with a very close-up look at the Bengal tiger—the real thing—no football mascot, this one.

Earlier in the evening, at 7:30, Mississippi ETV's "Faces" series offers viewers a 30-minute capsule of news, features, entertainment and public affairs on topics relevant to the black community—and ultimately to the entire community.

"Faces" rebroadcasts every Sunday afternoon at 5:30.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 24, a major series from the BBC—in the same vein as the acclaimed "Life on Earth" and "The Ascent of Man"—premieres on Mississippi ETV. "The Making of Mankind" at 8 takes viewers on the quest to find the answer to the question "why is man the most powerful creature on earth and how did he get to be that way?"

At 9 p.m., the entertainment takes a turn for the lighthearted when Janie Fricke is the headliner on "Austin City Limits." B.J. Thomas shares top billing.

Friday is public affairs night on ETV. At 7:30 p.m., Louis Rukeyser and guests discuss current market trends on "Wall Street Week," which is rebroadcast at 4 p.m., Sundays. At 8 p.m., Mississippi journalists discuss the week's top news stories on "Mississippi Week," which is rebroadcast at 2 p.m., Sundays.

At 8:30 p.m., capitol correspondents discuss the nation's top news stories on "Washington Week in Review." And at 9 p.m., the performance of the press is examined in "Inside Story," hosted by Hodding Carter III.

On Saturday, beginning at 6 p.m., "do-it-yourself" is the by-word when it comes to your house. At 6 p.m., Bob Villa continues work on building a solar home in "The All New This Old House." Saturday's program finds Bob discussing the wiring requirements.

Why We Are Building A New Hospital...

The construction of a new hospital for Hancock County has been much in the news lately. In order to clarify many points and questions being asked by the public, the Hancock

General Hospital Board of Trustees would like to take this means to answer some of these questions.

Did You Know

1. Hancock General Hospital was built in 1960 as a 36-bed facility, with support services for those 36 beds. In 1964, 20 additional beds were added, but no provisions were made to expand the support services.

2. The present facility utilizes 29,700 square feet of space, but current services and needed additional services require at least 65,000 square feet of space.

3. At the present facility, there is a traffic problem due to a lack of improvements to Dunbar Avenue and the traffic from the elementary school across the street. The shopping center at Dunbar Avenue and Highway 90 has created additional traffic problems.

4. During Hurricane Camille in 1969, Hancock General did not receive any flood waters, but became inaccessible due to flood waters filling lowlying areas surrounding the hospital and blocking access roads.

5. According to a building evaluation study done in 1981 by Nix, Mann and Associates, Inc., of Atlanta, Georgia, by request of Hospital Corporation of America, the electrical systems and equipment at Hancock General were found to be in relatively poor condition. Repair and updating would be difficult in many instances due to inaccessibility of parts and ceilings.

6. The mechanical systems in the present building, according to the same study, are 17-23 years old, approaching or exceeding the normal life expectancy of most of the equipment. It is not unreasonable to have major expenditures to replace or make major repairs to the equipment within the next few years.

7. According to an economic profile of Hancock County prepared by the Mississippi Research and Development Center, population in the county is estimated to increase from 24,592 to 32,000, or 18%, by 1990. Bay St. Louis, with a present population of 7,850, will see an estimated 20% increase to 9,850. Waveland, with 4,223 now, will increase to approximately 6,000, or 30%. Therefore, a new facility should be located in the most heavily populated geographical area, which is the twin cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

8. Renovation of the present building would take two years, during which time the hospital could not be operational due to a disruption of services and personnel. There would also be no improvement in flow patterns, and the old systems would be difficult to change due to the present layout, i.e., use of the main corridor for visitors, emergency equipment, post surgery and delivery patients, location of the nursery, etc.

9. In order to correct the deficiencies in the present building, it would cost approximately $4.5 million, while the addition of 30,000 square feet would cost another $4.5 million, and these figures do not include the cost of new equipment, estimated at $4 million, or the financing cost itself.

D. The potential benefits of relocating the hospital on a site which would be closer to the geographically most populated areas of the members of the community which it serves.

E. The lack of disruption of health care services during construction and renovation.

CONCLUSION:

Therefore, a new hospital facility is necessary according to the following major reasons:

A. The cost of upgrading the present facility.

B. The difficulty of adding to the existing structure.

C. The age of the original building and systems.

WEIGHING THE EVIDENCE—Approximately five pounds of marijuana found at a Lower Bay Road residence near Clermont Harbor on Wednesday night, is weighed by Glen Strong, right, Hancock County deputy sheriff, and Alvin Ladner, Hancock County investigator on Thursday. The house was under surveillance for several days after a tip was received, and a search warrant secured. Abbott and Ronald Goodman, both were arrested later while fishing after an arrest warrant was issued by Justice Court Judge Lee Klein. They were charged with the alleged possession and intent to sell marijuana, Ladner said. (Staff photo by Ellis Cievas).

Two arrested in connection with marijuana found in home

By ELLIS CIEVAS

Two persons were arrested while fishing late Wednesday night near Bayou Caddy and charged with the alleged possession and intent to sell marijuana, according to Alvin Ladner, Hancock County investigator.

Ladner said, "Abbott Goodman, 38 and Ronald Goodman, 33, both listing an address of Box 83, Lakeshore were released from the Hancock County Jail on Thursday after posting a $5,000 bond each in connection with the charges."

"A search warrant was secured from John Chevis, Justice Court judge, for the residence located on the Lower Bay Road near Clermont Harbor which had been under surveillance for several days," Ladner added.

"During a search of the residence at dusk, approximately five pounds of marijuana was found," Ladner continued.

"Our investigation revealed the residents of the home were fishing near the mouth of Bayou Caddy and an arrest warrant for the two was secured from Lee Klein, Justice Court judge," Ladner stated.

The investigator reported assistance was secured from the Bureau of Marine Resources to make the arrest.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled before Judge Klein for the Goodmans.

Officers involved in the search and arrest included Ladner, Glen Strong, David Murtagh, Eddie Jennings, Mike Seibert, and Audie Murphy.

The case is being investigated by Ladner and Strong.

Power company mails refund checks

More than $35 million in refund checks is on its way to retail customers of Mississippi Power Company after the electric utility received only 47 percent of a rate increase sought in 1980.

John Stephens, vice president of rates and regulatory affairs for the Gulfport-based utility, said more than 250,000 checks have been mailed to customers of record from Nov. 20, 1980, to May 4, 1982, the period the rate schedule was in effect.

"All of the refund checks are based on the amount of electricity the customer purchased during the refund period and have been mailed only to persons who were Mississippi Power Company customers during this period," Stephens said.

"For example, if a customer purchased 900 kilowatt hours of electricity every month during the 17-month period, his refund would be a little more than $70."

The refund resulted from a state Supreme Court ruling on the company's 1980 request for an annual rate increase of $39.3 million. Mississippi Power Company collected the full rate hike under bond as allowed by state law from Nov. 20, 1980, to May 4, 1982.

However, the state Supreme Court's March 16, 1983, ruling on the rate case resulted in Mississippi Power Company being granted only an $18.4 million annual increase. The $20.7 million annual difference plus interest is what is being refunded.

Customers received 8 percent interest on the amount of the refund due from Nov. 20, 1980, through April 20, 1982. But during the period April 21, 1982, through Nov. 16, 1983, the date the refund was mailed, the interest rate was 11.5 percent.

This difference in interest is a result of a state law that went into effect raising the interest rate on refunds to an amount equal to the federal discount rate plus two percent.

The amount of interest each customer is paid is shown on his refund check.

Stephens said the checks have been mailed to the mailing address of current customers or to the last forwarding address given to the company by customers who have moved outside Mississippi Power Company's 23-county service area in southeast Mississippi.

"Any refunds returned by the Post Office will be maintained in a file by Mississippi Power Company and can be claimed by these customers," Stephens said.

"Under state law, any unclaimed refunds will go into the general fund of the state of Mississippi after seven years."

Mississippi Power Company will publish in local newspapers a form for persons to fill out and mail to the utility if they have not received a refund and believe they are entitled to one.

Also, if a customer has a question about his refund he can call the Mississippi Power Company office in his community or 1-800-451-2223.

How big is the world's largest flowering blossom? Would you believe each blossom of a rafflesia (rah-FLEE-zee-uh) flower, that grows in the jungles of Sumatra and Malaya, may be three feet across and weigh up to 25 pounds, reports National Wildlife's Ranger Rick magazine. It takes nine months for the cabbage-like bud to grow into a blossom.

Supervisors decisions can't please everyone

There are times when decisions have to be made by our political leaders which are not always favorable to all of their constituents.

A recent decision by our Hancock County Board of Supervisors to close the County Home for Aged is being criticized by a few residents.

At first we felt that way too, until we started digging into the matter.

We have been told this was one of the hardest decisions our county leaders have had to make in recent years.

The facility has housed from three to five residents over the past few years, and the cost of operating the facility has continued to rise with inflation.

As most people know, the oil and gas business has made a tremendous decline during the past year.

It has affected Hancock County like the oil companies, because taxes collected by the county from the companies were used in helping operate many agencies. And these taxes were cut in half in one year, as the amount paid is based on oil and gas production.

We realize the county home has been around for a very long time. We rented a fishing skiff many times from a resident, when it was located at Bayou LaCroix.

When the home was established there was a tremendous need, and as you know there were no nursing homes in our area.

We have been assured by local leaders the residents of the county home will receive the special care they need and probably more.

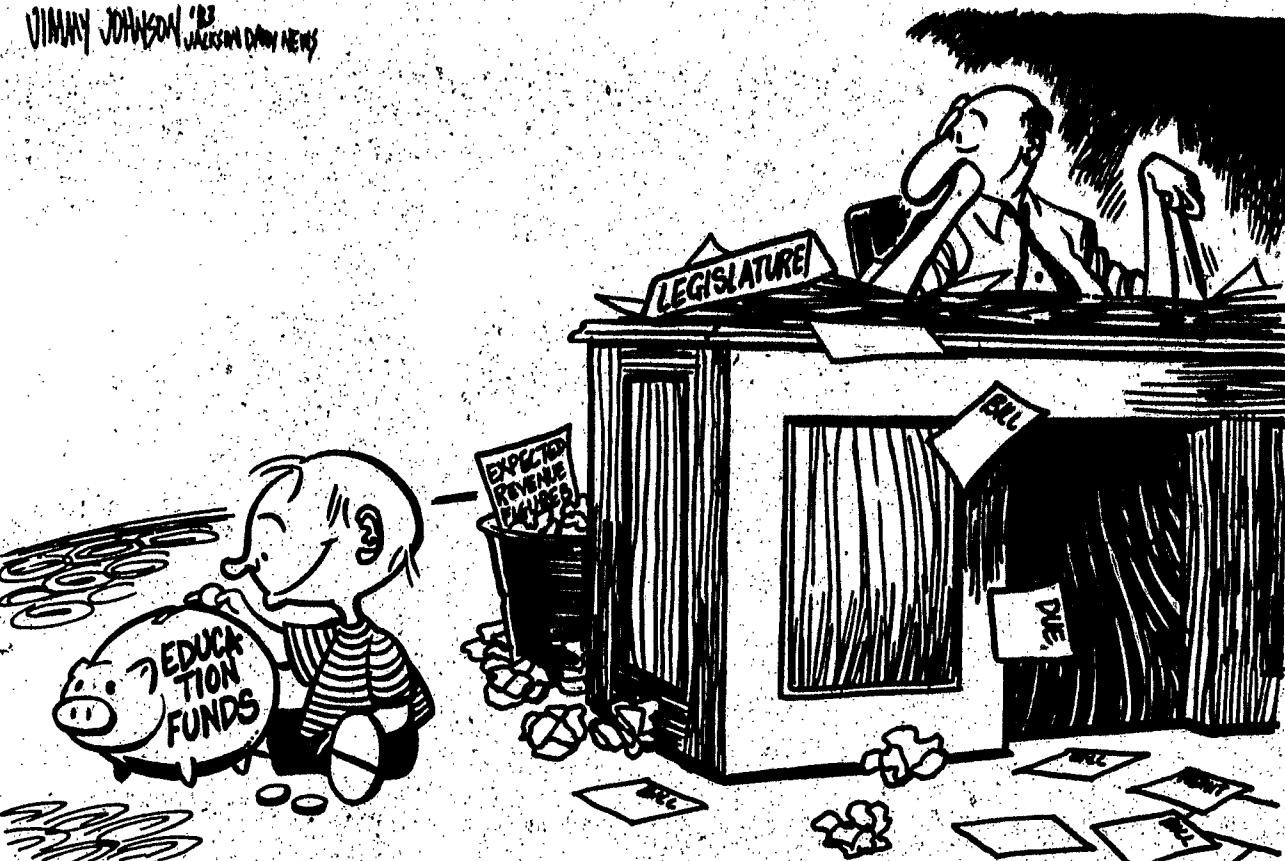

Governmental agencies, today have to be careful, or they could end up very fast in the 'red.'

If a family takes a big cut in income, or a cut in a portion of their income, they too have to tighten the belt in some areas.

The building currently used for the county home can be used to house several agencies whose rent is now being paid by the county.

We feel the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, under the circumstances made a good decision.

HELP line agency urges safe holidays

SAVE THE HOLIDAYS

The Committee on Alcoholism & Drug Abuse for Greater New Orleans (CADA), a United Way Agency, home of the 524 H-E-L-P number, has launched its annual Save The Holidays Project to promote a safe holiday season.

The commemoration begins on Thanksgiving and ends on New Year's Day.

According to A. E. (Ed) Holmes Jr., president of the committee, "We are not against people having a good time. In fact we aren't against drinking. We are concerned about the many tragedies which irresponsible drinking causes during these holiday periods."

"The coming weeks will see more-than-normal drinking in our area. Parties, dances, family-gatherings are usually associated with drinking. What we hope to do is to urge people to follow a few common sense guidelines, which can make the days ahead safe."

According to Holmes, the guidelines are simple:

- Have non-alcoholic beverages available for those guests who cannot or who do not wish to drink;

- Don't force a drink on anyone. The person could be on medication which mixed with alcohol could have disastrous results; the person could be an alcoholic, in which case one drink could precipitate a series of others ruining the entire holiday season;

- If you drink, eat something before;

- Know your limits, if you drink;

- Don't be afraid to say "No" if you don't wish to drink;

- If someone is drunk, remember that coffee, cold showers, and walking do not sober the individual. Only time can sober someone;

- Don't drink if on medication

Bay Council okays plan to finance improvements

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Bay St. Louis City Council gave the go-ahead Thursday for plans to finance sewage improvements for the city through a Farmers Home Administration loan.

The loan will be repaid through the issuance of $900,000 in revenue bonds and $1,600,000 in general obligation bonds.

Councilman Sheldon Seuzeneau advised his colleagues that FmHA had committed the funds, and moved that the council proceed with necessary measures to effect a loan.

The motion passed, with members Wilmer Seymour, James Thriffiley and Seuzeneau voting for, and Harry Farve and Gene Taylor voting against.

City Clerk Eddie Favre said the FmHA loan, which carries a 9.18 percent interest rate, will 'peak' at nine years and that the second bond payment, in 20 years, will leave a small balance to be paid off in 35 years.

Annexed area primarily will benefit from the improvements, according to Favre.

Collection lines will be installed in the areas of Seuba Street, Bouslog Street, Old Spanish Trail and US-90.

Water lines will be installed in the area across US-90 behind Schuett's Pontiac-Buick-GMC Inc.

During council discussions, Councilman Favre asked how much the project would cost each homeowner, and City Clerk Favre said the estimated cost, at most, will be an increase of $2.82 per customer per month.

He is hopeful that when bids come in and are reviewed, the cost will be lower.

The increase will probably be put into effect when the bids are in, Favre said.

Ray Eaton of the Jackson engineering firm of Lewis-Eaton noted that the cost estimate is based on zero population growth.

Thriffiley said there are 900 potential new customers to help foot the bill, but Taylor said, "The fact of the matter is that when we start adding collection lines to serve other customers, the city will pay 100 percent of the cost of those lines."

Thriffiley noted that "the idea was to take care of major problems involving trunk lines and provide access to treat sewage, and to borrow what we have to handle sewage from wherever it comes from."

Favre said Friday that the city has 30 days to advertise its intent to issue bonds.

If it does not receive a petition objecting, which will necessitate an election, it can authorize Lewis-Eaton to proceed with design, which will take four to six months.

In the meantime, a bond attorney will prepare the paperwork to sell the bonds.

It should take about 90 days to sell bonds, Favre said.

He predicted that actual work can begin on the project in August or September, 1984.

Also Thursday, the council responded to a request from Delmer Wilcox by unanimously adopting a resolution to raise speed limits for railway traffic from 35 to 45 miles per hour, to make improvements to the railroad depot and to upgrade railroad crossings.

Wilcox, representing the Louisiana-Mississippi-Alabama Rapid Rail Transit Commission, said the commission was ready to go forward with Amtrak and will sign final papers in Washington, DC on Dec. 8.

According to Wilcox, plans call for two trains to travel from Mobile, Ala. to New Orleans each morning with two trains making the return trip each evening.

One train will stop in Bay St. Louis for each trip, and another will stop in Waveland.

Wilcox noted that Waveland will have to build a new depot to accommodate the train.

He also assured council members that trains will have to slow down for the Bay Bridge, and that "they won't be going 35 miles per hour, much less 45."

Although Seaboard System Railroad has not yet given permission for Amtrak to use the depot, Wilcox says no problems are anticipated in that regard.

The commission has worked hard and fast, Wilcox said, to accomplish implementation of the railroad.

He noted that three states are involved in the project, with five commission members appointed by each of the three governors involved.

Each state has contributed $166,000 to the project and the US Congress has also been involved in plans and approval of the train.

After a brief discussion about drainage work throughout the city, Thriffiley asked Mayor Larry Bennett to prepare a progress report with a time schedule for completion of work yet remaining.

Taylor, who brought the matter up, said he was especially concerned because it is not long until the rainy season arrives.

The council approved without discuss-sion a claims docket that was held up last week by a 2-2 deadlock. Again this week, Thriffiley voted nay.

In response to an inquiry from Thriffiley about a gas line in the St. Charles Street area between the railroad track and Old Spanish Trail that is buried only nine inches deep, the council asked City Attorney Joseph Gex to look into the matter and take proper action.

The code governing gas lines calls for them to be buried 30-35 inches deep, Thriffiley said.

Taylor said he had "noticed that department heads are appointed by the mayor with approval of the council."

"What happens," he asked Gex, "if the council withdraws approval?"

"I'm not sure you have that leeway," Gex answered.

"Once a department head is approved, I think the mayor is the person to demote or fire."

Gex said he could ask for an attorney general's opinion on the issue, and Taylor asked him to obtain a verbal opinion by the council's next meeting date.

Junior Auxiliary states Christmas Tour of Homes

The batik and watercolor artwork of Ocean Springs artist, Suzanne Weidie will be on display at the home of Mrs. Faith Koger, 348 Main Street in Bay St. Louis, during the third annual Christmas Tour of Homes, sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary and set for Sunday, December 4 from 2 to 5 p.m.

Other houses scheduled for the tour include the homes of Mrs. Beverly Coogan, 200 Bismarck Street; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Favre, 231 Felicity Street; and Mrs. Gloria Forstall, 1198 North Beach, all in Bay St. Louis.

The Landmark Townsquare Restaurant, 210 Main Street in Bay St. Louis, will serve as this year's House of Good Cheer, and will feature a Christmas boutique of handmade gifts and baked goods made by auxiliary members.

The Koger home, built approximately 50 years ago in the 1920's bungalow style rate to this area, is all cypress and features cozy, comfortable, warm rooms.

Carrying the theme, "An Old Time Country Christmas," a private collection of antique toys will also be displayed under the Christmas tree.

The living and dining rooms, fashioned with coved ceilings, are done in blue and peach, and emit a pleasant warmth. The fireplace adds to the country feeling and the antiques in these rooms and throughout the house are worth noting.

The kitchen, which has a porcelain shelf kitchen safe and a porcelain top kitchen done probably from the same period as the house, is yellow and creates an atmosphere of family and cozy living.

The two bedrooms also have fireplaces, and the master bedroom features a magnolia armoire approximately 75 years old. Cottage furniture and a homepun liner and wool coverlet add to the nostalgic air that permeates the house.

Ms. Weidie, who received her BS degree in art education from the University of South Alabama, in Mobile, studied two summers at Louisiana Tech University under renowned watercolorists M. Douglas Walton.

In 1982, she received one of ten merit awards from the Ocean Springs Art Association at its annual exhibit and first place in the mixed media at the Biloxi annual exhibit.

This year she has received first place award in the mixed media at the Edgewater Art Show; second place in mixed media at the Hattiesburg Tri-County Show; and best of show in the Ocean Springs annual exhibit; third in watercolor and mixed media at the same show.

Ms. Weidie has also received over 25 purchase awards, and will be on hand to discuss her work with interested tourgoers.

The Landmark, owned by Kay and Sonny Wolfe, will provide tourgoers with a trip back into nostalgia.

The building, originally built around 1880, sits on the homestead lot owned by P.R.R. Pray, the administrator for the state of Mississippi who came here from Maine in 1820. He initially built a Creole cottage on the site, which faced the Square of the Village of Shieldsborough.

The cottage was purchased by Joseph O. Mauffray on April 12, 1907, when he added the front addition and extended the cottage.

The one and one-half story building was used as a residence until 1978; when it was renovated for a restaurant. A glass-enclosed front porch and a rear patio area were added at that time.

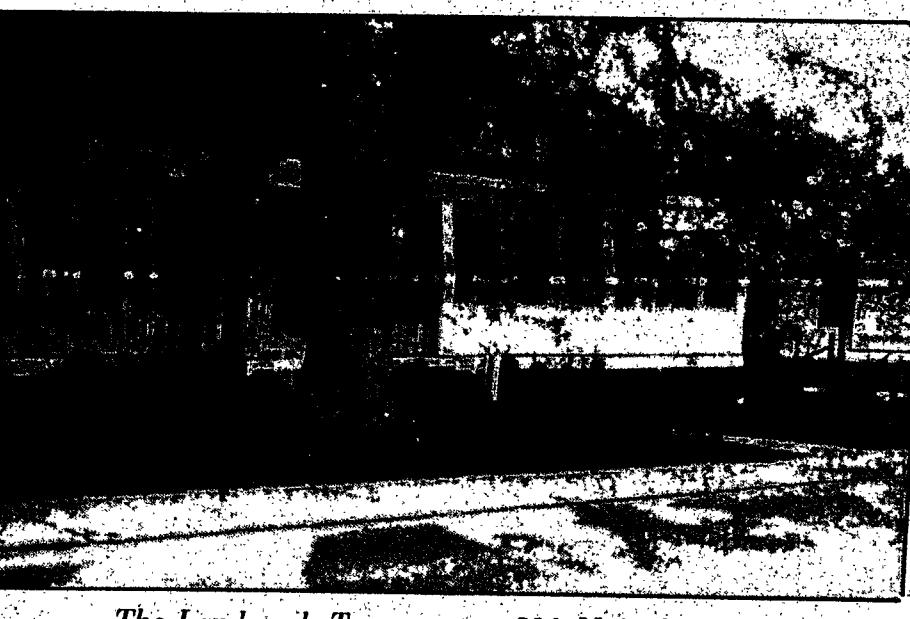

Some of the features of The Landmark include the double fireplace, the Mauffray room and other visits into the past.

A handmade candlewicked quilt will also be given away during the tour and tickets may be obtained from the homes the day of the tour or in advance from any auxiliary member.

Tour tickets, which are $10 per person, may be purchased in advance from Ellen Kane Gifts, The Family Tree or any Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary member. They will also be available the day of the tour.

St. Monica Guild

Mrs. Malcolm Dinwiddie
was featured in a program called Personal Taste on Monday when the St. Monica Guild Women of Trinity met in the Christian home of Mrs. Edmund Wallace.

Mrs. Dinwiddie recalled a course which she enjoyed as a major student while attending Tulane University.

Speaking at the meeting, S. Randolph Buck asked for and received a report from Mrs. Richard Hadden on progress and conditions at St. Michael's Boys Ranch in Picayune.

The ranch, recently visited by Mrs. Hadden and members of her committee, was reportedly doing a most worthwhile service toward rehabilitation of 12 boys between the ages of 13-16 who are currently living on the premises.

The guild voted to include the boys in their Christmas budget, and each lad will receive $10 which he may spend as he pleases at Christmas.

A meeting of the guild is scheduled for Dec. 12 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Herman de Vries, 740 West Beach in Pass Christian.

School lunches rated 'best buy' over brown bags, fast foods

By Barbara McLaurin
Food and Nutrition
Specialist

If you think you're saving money when your children take lunches from home rather than buy them at school, think again.

According to food service officials in several states, it may be cheaper to buy more nutritious lunches at school.

One food service office compared the cost of two bag lunches at home with two 'super sack' lunches purchased at school.

The lunches were identical and therefore nutritionally comparable. But the homemade lunch costs considerably more than the one bought at school.

One lunch consisted of a turkey sandwich on roll, carrots and celery sticks, fresh fruit and milk. The cost of making this lunch at home and buying the milk at school was $1.05, while the cost of buying it was 75 cents in elementary and 85 cents in secondary school.

The second lunch the office compared is the peanut butter and jelly sandwich, with raisins, fresh fruit and milk. The cost of making this lunch at home and buying the milk at school was 94 cents, compared with buying it for 75 cents in elementary and 85 cents in secondary schools. For the same cost, the school added a one-ounce cheese slice to supplement the protein.

If your children are in a high school where they can jump into their cars and go to a fast food place for lunch, the school lunch becomes an even better bargain.

At one fast food restaurant, a cheeseburger, small fries, and a small soda cost $2.32. A two-piece chicken order, small fries, and a small soda cost $2.52. A salad alone cost $2.19.

At another fast food restaurant a small hamburger, small fries, and a small drink cost $1.50. Larger portions or other foods at these restaurants easily cost more than $3. Tax also has to be added to all the prices.

In one county public high school, students can buy a quarter pound hamburger, French fries, lettuce and tomato or fresh fruit, and milk shake for $1. It cost $2.45 for this lunch, without the lettuce and tomato or fruit, at a local fast food restaurant.

Besides cost, another consideration is a possible lack of nutritional adequacy in bag lunches. In one survey, typical lunches brought from home were low in vitamin A, vitamin C, B vitamins, and other key nutrients. They were high in calories.

A recent study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) of some 7,000 families throughout the United States, found that students who participate in the school lunch program get higher percentages of their daily nutritional needs than those who do not.

Study results indicate that both at lunch and for a 24-hour period, participating students get higher percentages of six out of 12 important nutrients (protein, vitamin A, riboflavin, vitamin B6, calcium, and phosphorus) than students who have the school lunch available but don't eat it.

The study also found on the average that school lunch participants eat food of higher nutritional quality with the respect to three important nutrients: protein, calcium and phosphorus. Students who eat school lunches get more of these nutrients with less caloric intake than students who eat other lunches.

They eat the same amount of these nutrients as school lunch participants, nonparticipants have to eat more calories.

In addition to the time and expense of packing sack lunches and the nutritional deficiencies of some of these lunches, there can be a social problem. In addition to the nutritional problems of the lunches, the lack of variety that people are sometimes willing to accept the monotony because they think they're saving money.

Another area in which school lunches excel over bag lunches from home is sanitation. Many more problems can occur with brown bag lunches than with school lunches because of improper handling and storing of the foods.

In a sack lunch prepared at home, there is much more likelihood that cold foods will not be kept cold enough, that hot foods will not be kept hot enough, and that hands and utensils will not be kept clean enough.

Bag lunches often stand at room temperature for several hours and contain foods that can spoil and cause illness.

Lunch foods most susceptible to spoilage include sandwich spreads or dressings made with mayonnaise.

Creamed dishes, milk, cottage cheese and cooked meats are also susceptible to food leakage.

To avoid the problem of food spoilage and to save time, parents may include soft drinks and other snack items instead of nutritious foods in their children's lunches. To save money they sometimes use bags from leftover lunches, groceries, or elsewhere, risking possible insect infestation or contamination from food leakage.

For all of these reasons, it seems that school lunches still are the best buy in town for school children. With some 23.2 million children participating in USDA's national school lunch program as of last spring, obviously many parents and children agree.

ON WAY TO MACEY'S THANKSGIVING PARADE—Gerald Maneiri, center, who was selected as a member of McDonald's All-American Band, left Thursday for New York City to parade in Macey's Annual Thanksgiving Parade. He receives a certificate from Mike Smith, left, manager of McDonald's, Waveland, and a McDonald's shirt from Pat Wascom, local store marketing co-ordinator. Maneiri, the son of Mrs. Bobbie Maneiri of Bay St. Louis, was a student at Bay Senior High when selected. He is now a drummer in the Long Beach High Band and resides in that city. The Thanksgiving trip will also include a Boston tour. Maneiri will join the McDonald All-American Band also for the Fiesta Bowl Parade on Dec. 31, and the Tournament of Roses Parade on Jan. 1. Scholarship awards top $30,000

The second annual $30,000 Duracell Scholarship Competition is underway.

The competition is designed to encourage scientific creativity among American high school students.

The National Science Teachers Association has endorsed the competition and is working with Duracell Inc., the competition's sponsor, to judge the entries.

In addition, the National Association of Secondary School Principals has placed the competition on its Advisory List of national Contests and Activities for 1983-84.

The 1984 competition, as in 1983, involves students designing and building battery-powered devices that have a practical function.

The judging criteria encourages a wide latitude in the types and calibre of entries. This insures students, who apply themselves to the challenge, a good chance at one of the 41 awards.

The National Science Teachers Association has endorsed the competition and is working with Duracell Inc., the competition's sponsor, to judge the entries.

In addition, the National Association of Secondary School Principals has placed the competition on its Advisory List of national Contests and Activities for 1983-84.

The 1984 competition, as in 1983, involves students designing and building battery-powered devices that have a practical function.

The judging criteria en-description of the device and the official entry form no later than March 1, 1984.

The National Science Teachers Association will select the 100 finalists, who must send their devices to New York City for the final judging.

A panel of scientists and science educators will select the winners. The top six winners, their parents and teachers will be brought to New York City for an awards ceremony in May 1984.

Teacher's Prizes.

Duracell Inc., also will honor the winners' teachers with special prizes, including one Apple II personal computer; five Hewlett-Packard HP-41CV alphanumeric programmable calculators; and ten Sharp EL-5100 Scientific Calculators.

Interested students in grades 9 through 12 may receive further information on the 1984 $30,000 Duracell Scholarship Competition from their science teachers.

In September, Duracell Inc. sent the 1984 competition information to the 10,000 high schools across the country that received the Duracell Educational Program on battery technology.

For entry forms, check with your science department or write to: Duracell Scholarship Competition, c/o Burson-Marseller, 866 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10022.

The Abundant Life

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

-John 10:10

By SHAWN MURPHY

trating on what you do not have. (Hebree 13:5).

A mother and father gave a sizable gift in memory of their son who was killed in Vietnam. When the gift was announced, a mother whispered to her husband, "Let's give the same amount for our boy."

The husband replied, "Our boy didn't lose his life." Whereupon the mother said, "That's the point. Let's give it as an expression of gratitude for sparing his life." This mother had not lost sight of the fact of what she did have! V. Consider how detestable ingratitude really is.

We eat three square meals a day and snacks and then complain if we have to eat the same meal twice in a row. Meanwhile, nearly 75 percent of the world is wondering when and where their next meal is coming from. Some wondering even if another meal is coming at all!

A few years back a Christian preacher wrote a book and had in it a chapter entitled "Overcoming Ingratitude." His main points were these.

I. Remember to never forget. (Psalm 103:2). He cited the fact that only one of the ten lepers remembered not to forget! (Luke 17:11-19).

II. Do not major on your troubles. One little boy was thankful for his glasses, for they kept the boys from fighting him and the girls from kissing him! (Rom. 8:28).

III. Think how much better off you are than so many.

IV. Count the blessings you do have, rather than concentrate understanding - Phil. 4:7.

4. I have joy unspeakable - I

Peter 1:8.

5. I have a divine love that never fails - I Cor. 13:8.

6. I have a faithful, pious wife - Prov. 31:10.

7. I have devoted, loving children - Ex. 20:12.

8. I have true, loyal friends -

Pov. 18:24.

9. I have a crown of life -

James 1:12.

10. I have a Savior, Jesus

Christ, who supplies all my needs freely - Phil. 4:19.

Closing the book, the tax assessor said, "You are truly a wealthy man, but do you know that I'm not able to tax you on any of this?" He then added, "You have possessions that give 100 percent profit."

IX. Do away with murmuring and complaining.

X. Realize that you are a recipient; and never forget the giver in the gift.

Conclusion: George Herbert prayed, "Our Father, Thou hast given us so much. Do, please, give us one more thing...a grateful heart!"

ETV Brief

JEWS OF RADAUTI

A black and white documentary film scheduled to air on ETV Monday, Nov. 21, takes a look at the lifestyle of elderly Jews living in Radauti, Romania.

"Song of Radauti" can be seen at 10 p.m., on Mississippi ETV.

On a 1974 Fulbright Fellowship, producer Laurence Salzmann visited Romania to record Jewish folklore. In Radauti, one of the region's liveliest peasant communities, he found a small group of aging Jews doggedly and poignantly clinging to their ancient beliefs and traditions as their numbers smaller each year.

Local hoopster rebounds from cancer surgery

By NAN PATTON
EHRBRIGHT

Charles (Doc) Burns is one of many fortunate Americans who has won the battle against cancer.

Burns, 22, of Waveland, has refused to let cancer deter his dream of playing basketball and coaching his own team.

Two years ago he organized 'Special Delivery.'

Comprised of players from all over the Gulf Coast, 'Special Delivery' has about 15 players.

"It varies," Burns says. "Some can't play during the season because they're in college or seniors in high school."

The team has had some outstanding players.

According to Burns, former members include Audie Norris, drafted to Portland Trail Blazers; Donald Seals, drafted to Philadelphia 76ers; and Robert Gram, who's now playing in the military service.

The nickname 'Doc' was given to Burns in the ninth grade when he played on St. Stanislaus' junior varsity team, he says.

Then he switched to Bay St. Louis High School, had to sit out a year, and played under Coach Willie Bradley during his junior year at Bay High.

After the 11th grade, he went into the armed services in Slidell, La.

Last year Burns' team came in fourth or fifth out of 16 teams participating in the Christmas Classic, he says, and Burns, averaging 21 points per game, was named an 'all tournament' player.

Then, in August, 1963, Burns had surgery for cancer in his right elbow.

He said he spent ten days worrying about the operation, but "they got it all; luckily, and they didn't have to cut any muscles."

It was necessary to remove some ligaments, and Burns says his recovery has been "discouraging at times," but he works out four hours a day and he says he's slowly coming back.

Burns still wants to go to college and play basketball, but in the meantime he's concentrating on 'Special Delivery.'

"Basketball is what kept me going when I found out I had cancer," he says.

"I had a lot on my mind, but even so, the first day I was in the hospital I ran a mile."

"When a nurse came in and found me in running shorts she was real surprised and said I had to put on pajamas and go to bed."

Burns says he'd like to copy the success of the Saints.

"For so long I saw them down, down, down."

"Then they came up, and I thought, well, if they can do it, I can."

"So this year I want to do like the Saints and get everything."

"I'm going for the gusto!"

GARDENING IS BULLISH

Vegetable gardeners, don't retire your garden hoes or tills next spring. Gardening is becoming bullish.

Weather and economic forces combined during 1963 to make the profitability of home gardening more promising than it may ever have been.

Vegetable processors have been caught with their pantry shelves emptier than they should be because of the 1963 drought and persistently lower grower prices which discouraged production and now have lowered inventories of processed vegetables and brought possibilities of higher prices for vegetables produced next year.

Canada's deputy minister of agriculture and food, Duncan Allen, reported that the same trends in diet, lifestyle, and economy exist in Canada as in the U.S., and observed that markets for fresh fruits and vegetables are rising sharply while canned goods demand is waning.

Meanwhile in California a large producer of lettuce on 5,000 acres in that state's Salinas and Imperial valleys, Giant Sun-Harvest, is quitting the business.

These facts were brought out recently in Chicago at a meeting of North American vegetable growers from ten states and Canada.

The list of reasons why commercial vegetable growers are likely to ease up on 1964 production include a declining per capita consumption, low net returns, rising cannery costs, excess industry capacity, worldwide recession, declining population growth, high capital costs, and the potential for increased competition from other regions and countries.

The new product, perhaps surprisingly, is a thinner plastic sheet that allows fruits and vegetables to breathe and last much longer than fresh food products possibly could in less porous plastic wraps. Some fruits have shown little change in these wraps for more than six months after packaging.

Transplanting Trees

Now is the time to start leave six inches of radius for thinking about transplanting each inch of trunk diameter, trees if your landscaping i.e. a one inch tree would have a root ball of one foot diameter.

Many people find it fun and challenging to dig their own trees from local woodlands. Many of the natural trees and shrubs found in our woods are quite suitable for landscape plants and are quite more dry.

If you do plan to dig your own, remember to get the owner's permission before even entering private property, much less digging up plants.

Remember also that it is against the law to dig plants from highway rights-of-way.

We have a few weeks left in which deciduous trees will retain their leaves before dropping them for winter. For ease in locating and identifying the tree or shrub you want, go out soon. Flag the plants you want now so that you can come back later in the winter and dig them.

You may want to bring a shovel to root prune the trees when you flag them. This helps ease the shock of transplanting by causing the root system to re-sprout new roots close to the trunk before it is actually transplanted.

To do this you cut the lateral roots down to a depth of 12 inches around the tree to a depth of six to 12 inches and then cut under the ball to sever the "tap root." Lift the tree carefully from the hole making sure to support the root ball from the bottom. If the root ball breaks the tree may die.

Place the ball on burlap or other suitable strong material, wrap it up, just sever the lateral roots in place. It is a good idea to water the tree when this is done if the soil is dry. For best survival chances, do it all in one day.

If the tree is to be held in the balled stage for any length of time, make sure the root ball does not freeze or dry out and don't leave it in direct sun.

Many root balls are designated by transportation in open trucks. Be sure to cover the root ball with plastic or tarpaulin when transporting.

ASCS NEWS

NOMINEES FOR ASC COMMITTEE

The slate of nominees for the upcoming ASC committee elections has been developed, reported Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Pearl River and Hancock Counties.

Gennin said that all candidates were petitioned for by farmers, and that farmers are to be commended for their participation in making nominations.

The ASC committee election will be conducted by mail from Nov. 25 until Dec. 5.

Eligible ASC voters will receive a ballot in the mail with instructions how to vote for candidates of their choice and return the ballot to the ASC county office.

Participation in ASC elections is open to all farmers regardless of race, religion, sex, color, or national origin.

DAIRY REFUNDS

Milk producers who reduce their commercial marketings by 84 percent in September may apply for a refund on the second 50-cents-per-hundredweight deduction from their milk checks since September 1, 1983.

"Refund applications may be filed at our office from Oct. 1 until Dec. 31," said Gennin.

To qualify for refunds, dairy farmers are required to reduce their commercial marketings from the base period (Sept. 1981 and 1983) which is the average of the two marketing months. Gennin said milk producers may establish their base marketings at the county ASCS office by submitting payment receipts or statements from milk handlers.

"Those who sell milk directly to consumers should have sales records and cancelled checks as proof of marketings and the amount paid to the Commodity Credit Corporation."

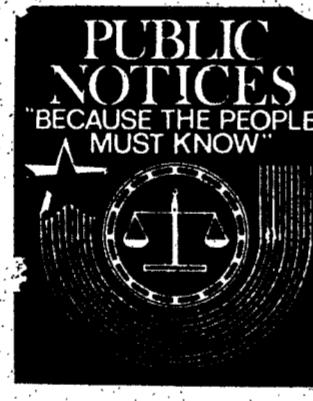

The ASCS official said September is the only base needed for determining a 1983 refund.

The deadline for filing for a 1983 marketing year refund is December 31, 1983.

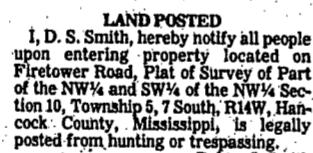

FORESTRY SIGNUP
Sign up open area planting under the 1984 Forestry Incentives Program by 84 percent in September may apply for a refund on the second 50-cents-per-hundredweight deduction from their milk checks since September 1, 1983.

"Refund applications may be filed at our office from Oct. 1 until Dec. 31," said Gennin.

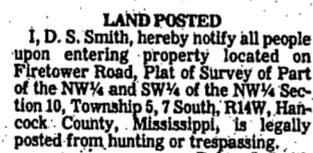

The Mississippi Forestry Commission has an adequate supply of pine seedlings. The SHOPLIFT...

Take a look at the whole picture. Shoplifting leads to a permanent police record sometimes even a lengthy jail sentence and large fine. It could destroy your chances at a decent job, an education, even a loan. So if you're tempted to shoplift this holiday season, think about the bleak picture in store for you.

ETV Brief

MTV PRODUCED "Hanukkah," a half-hour documentary film hosted by Edward Asner and produced by Mississippi ETV, can be seen this holiday season at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 1, on the Mississippi ETV Network. The Hanukkah season begins this year on evening of Nov. 30.

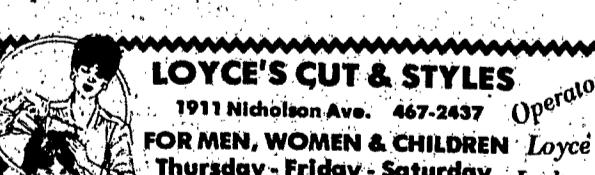

"Hanukkah" recounts the events more than 2,000 years ago that led to the celebration every year of the eight-day midwinter festival by Jews the world over.

Says Asner: in the film, "Hanukkah, the Festival of Lights, the Festival of the Rededication of the Jewish temple...celebrated every year in December, Hanukkah recalls the bravery, tenacity and historical circumstance—some call it miracle—that permitted the ancient Israelites over 2,000 years ago to preserve their freedom and with it the spiritual source from which Judaism draws its meaning."

The program utilizes graphics, animation, dramatic presentation and the Hanukkah home religious service. Asner explores the historical basis for the holiday, and graphics from a variety of eras and artists allow the viewer to see the events through many different interpretations.

ETV Brief

FROM IDEA TO FILM A special documentary on Mississippi ETV takes viewers behind the scenes to show how the "Star Wars" saga was conceived and what it took to bring it to reality.

"From 'Star Wars' to 'Jedi': The Making of a Saga," at 8:35 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 3, focuses on filmmaker George Lucas and chronicles "Star Wars," "The Empire Strikes Back" and "Return of the Jedi" from initial storyboard conferences to actual filming at locations around the world.

Film critic, author and filmmaker Richard Schickel was on hand for the production of all three films, a project spanning six years, and followed all aspects of their creation. He speaks with "Star Wars" creator George Lucas, as well as with the directors of "Empire" and "Jedi," and cast members and crew.

Hawks' Scott Favre takes top grid honors in post season selections

By EDGAR PEREZ

Hancock North Central Quarterback Scott Favre is the Deep South Conference's 1983 Most Outstanding Offensive Back.

Favre was selected for the honor in voting by the conference coaches late Wednesday.

In addition to a spot on the DSC All-Conference Team, Favre has been selected to the 1983 Burger King All Star Team picked from among all high school football players on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Also selected to the Burger King team are Hancock's Running Back Lydell Curry and Tight End Gary Fricke.

Curry and Fricke are also members of the Deep South Conference Offensive All-Conference Team.

Also selected to the DSC All-

Favre, six-foot, 170-pound senior and son of Hancock Head Coach Irvin Favre and Mrs. Benita Favre of Fenton, completed 85 of 138 passes attempted during the 1983 season for a completion record of 61 percent.

The Hawks' lanky quarterback completed nine touchdown and six two-point conversion passes for a total of 88 points.

He accumulated 1,201 yards passing during the season, the second highest mark in the conference.

Favre was edged for the season's passing yardage record by Pearl River Central's Gerald Tillman in the last game of the season.

Tillman racked up 1,213 yards passing, and in addition, was selected at the DSC's Most Outstanding Defensive Back for 1983.

Also taking "most outstanding" honors in the DSC selections is David McIver of the Bay High Tigers who was named Most Outstanding Punter.

David Oakes of PRC is named "Coach of The Year" and other outstanding selections include Ken Marble of East Central, Most Outstanding Offensive Lineman; Steve Gaines of Vancleave, Most Outstanding Defensive Lineman; and Tommy Bond of Stone County, most Outstanding Kicker.

The six foot-one inch, 175-pound Lydell Curry, a three-year starting back at Hancock, accumulated 2,706 yards rushing during that period as well as scoring 217 points in the process.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Curry of Pearlington, Lydell covered 1,003 yards of gridiron turf during his final season on 183 carries.
